

FIRST OF THE SEASON

[Loose Tobacco Market of This City Had Opening Sale Yesterday.

WAS ABOUT 175,000 POUNDS

Of New Tobacco Changed Hands At Good Prices For Opening Sale.

The loose tobacco season opened yesterday morning. The first sale was made on the floor of J. P. Thompson & Co., the second at M. H. Tandy & Co's and the third at R. E. & W. D. Cooper's.

There was but little good tobacco offered. The sales aggregated about 75,000 pounds, prices ranging from $3.50 to $9 per hundred.

If the rain and the warm weather which prevailed yesterday at 4 o'clock continued through last night tobacco in the barn will be in splendid order for bulking and in a few days tobacco will be rolling into the city from every direction. Then business generally will take a new start, and Christmas money will be plentiful.

There was a large board of buyers at the sales yesterday and prices were generally satisfactory, though there were some rejections.

RANGE DEMONSTRATION

At Planters Hardware Company This Week.

Housewives when out shopping this week should drop in at The Planters Hardware Company's and take a lunch with Mr. C. W. Flanders, who is demonstrating the many excellencies of the Malleable Range. Mr. Flanders has been conducting these demonstrations for six or seven years and is competent to fully explain the many excellent qualities of a Malleable Range. The manufacturers claim that it is the best looking, the best baker and the most durable range made.

The Planters Hardware Co. has been the exclusive handlers of this range for eight years, and out of the many that have been purchased and tested by the housekeepers in the city and throughout the country not one has ever been returned. Every range is guaranteed and the Hardware Company and the manufacturers stand behind every range put in the homes of purchasers. There are no deficiencies in any of the ranges and every convenience and short cut, so much desired by the housewife in her range, is embraced in the one now being demonstrated.

If your old range has seen its best days or is not equipped for quick, economical and perfect baking, Mr. Flanders can show you something that will please you. Calling and investigating the merits of his range is something you owe yourself but you will not owe him a cent for what he does for you, whether you buy or not.

Are you on to the latest fad with wide-awake housewives? We mean cooking in paper bags. If you are not you should be. Mr. Flanders is using paper bags in his demonstration and will show you how to put on your table a beef roast-gravy and all—that was cooked in a paper bag in the oven of the range, retaining all the flavor in the cooking, nothing escaping. And besides, if you buy a range this week he will give you a set of high-grade cooking ware, including four large pieces of aluminum ware.
